

Petty Officer Yeoman Third Class
Olga Y. Quintero
U. S. Coast Guard

Petty Officer Third Class Olga Y. Quintero, born in Los Angeles, CA, and raised between Oregon and Mexico, graduated from Aloha High School in 2007. Driven by a lifelong aspiration to serve, she enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard and entered basic training in November 2021.

Petty Officer Quintero's first assignment was as a Fireman onboard USCGC HADDOCK in San Diego, CA, from February to August 2022, where she earned consecutive Enlisted Person of the Quarter awards. Following her time onboard, she attended Yeoman "A" School at Training Center Petaluma, CA. Currently, she serves as the Lead Petty Officer at Sector San Diego. Her significant achievements include earning a temporary Cutterman's pin while assigned to USCGC HADDOCK and being named Sector San Diego Coast Guardsman of the Quarter for 2023.

Beyond her professional duties, Petty Officer Quintero has devoted over 100 off-duty hours to community service, actively supporting various charities and community relations. She is also a dedicated advocate for diversity, equity, and inclusion within the military, serving as a member of the Women's Leadership Initiative (WLI), Leadership Diversity and Inclusion Council (LDAC), and the San Diego chapter of the Association of Naval Services Officers (ANSO).

Petty Officer Quintero has been married for 17 years to Navy Chief Gonzalo Quintero, who is stationed at Surface Combat Systems Training Command in San Diego, CA. Together, they have two children, Nicolas (14) and Natalia (7).
